President Allows Students to Meet on the Campus.

PITCHED BATTLES - RESULT

Head of School Invites North Carolina Students to Settle Hazing Differences in Pugnacious Fashion. Contests to Continue Until One Class Gains Supremacy.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 30.—In order to stop, or at least attempt to stop, the hazing and class enmity growing out of the practice of hazing, President Winston, of the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College, located at Raleigh, has invited the members of the sophomore and freshmen classes to go out upon the campus and fight the matter out in regular pugilistic fashion. His invitation was promptly accepted by the students.

A pitched battle resulted last night on the campus, and was a fierce and bitter encounter. Another similar fight took place to-night. A commander was present in each instance for the purpose of seeing that no murder was done. The students were pitted against each other in ten game cock fashion. As a result of the fight there were some badly used-up men in the student bodies.

"Sophas" Ahead of Freshmen. The "sophas" are said to have had the best of the encounter as a whole. These fights, it is alleged, will continue until one or the other of the classes have obtained the supremacy at the school.

The matter has created a great deal of comment and criticism throughout the city and the South, some approving and others condemning the course of Prof. Winston. All the North Carolina colleges have had considerable trouble this term with the hazing element.

ELOPERS ARE DEPORTED.

Mrs. Hesse and "Saul Mate" Sent Back to Germany.

Baltimore, Oct. 30.—Frau Elizabeth Hesse, wife of the secretary of the railway mail service in Berlin, Germany, and Hans Nachtmann, twenty-one years old, with whom she eloped to this country, were sent back to Germany to-day on the North German Lloyd steamer Rhein, the same boat on which they made the passage to this side. The couple were detained in Baltimore as soon as the Rhein reached this port, on the ground that they were a menace to public morals. They entered an appeal from the decision of the local board to Secretary Straus, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, through Lawyer Paul Johannsen, and this morning the local immigration commissioner, Mr. Louis T. Wells, was notified that their appeal had not been sustained, and that they must return to Germany.

Mrs. Hesse told Mr. Wells before she left that she would never return to her husband. That gentleman has kept the cables hot since the arrival of his spies in this country. Mr. Wells has received a message from him weekly every day, imploring the immigration commissioner to persuade his wife to come back to him.

Ten Thousand Youngsters Aided in Prohibition Victory.

Anti-whisky People Now Going After Remaining Wet Alabama Towns. Mobile and Montgomery Next.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 30.—"The whole State of Alabama shall go dry!" This is the cry of the anti-whisky people of the State, and as they appear to be in overwhelming majority, it is safe to say that their claim will soon be good.

Flushed with victory in Jefferson County, which has just voted on whisky by a good majority, Brooks Lawrence, president of the State Anti-Saloon League, has gone to Mobile to begin an active crusade against liquor in the two remaining Alabama towns of any size that are still wet. Montgomery will soon be in the throes of a prohibition battle, and work has been started there. The next legislature will almost certainly pass a State prohibition measure, and Lieut. Gov. H. B. Gray favors a measure to call a constitutional convention to put prohibition in the Alabama constitution.

Speaker A. H. Carmichael, of the Alabama house, will further the prohibition bill in the legislature. The prohibitionists of this city are delirious with joy over their victory. Many churches are holding thanksgiving services, and a big rally is planned. Scenes never before witnessed in Jefferson marked the great triumph. From 6 o'clock in the morning until the close of the evening, every one of the twenty-two polling places in the county there were women and children by scores. Estimates say that there were 10,000 children alone working at the polls. They were well organized. Four young men wearing blue prohibition colors were bent with years, they entreated voters as they came to cast their ballots to vote against whisky.

The pupils of Birmingham College marched through the streets continually under the direction of their professors. Occasional halts were ordered so that the boys might shout for prohibition. The boys of the Alabama Reform School, at East Lake, marched about, headed by their band.

NEWS OF ALEXANDRIA

Convicted of Attempted Bribery, Nelson Appeals.

CASE ATTRACTED ATTENTION

City Democratic Committee Planning to Round Up Voters on Election Day—Councilman Bryan Attends His First Board Meeting—J. A. Marshall National Drainage Delegate.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU.

(By Telephone 88.) 329 King Street.

Alexandria, Va., Oct. 30.—In the Circuit Court for Alexandria County to-day Judge J. B. T. Thornton fined John C. Nelson $10 and sentenced him to serve five days in jail for contempt of court. He was charged with attempting to bribe a witness in the case of Henry Clayton, who last week was convicted of operating slot machines in violation of the law. It was testified that Nelson had made an effort, supported by the offer of money, to induce a resident of Washington, whose testimony was desired by the prosecution, not to come to Virginia in answer to the summons of the Circuit Court.

In behalf of the defendant, Attorney R. C. L. Moncreux raised the point of jurisdiction, contending that the court was without power to take cognizance of the alleged acts of the accused in Washington. Commonwealth's Attorney Cranford Mackey, who conducted the prosecution, claimed that the court had jurisdiction, which view was accepted by Judge Thornton. When sentence had been pronounced, Attorney Moncreux noted an appeal, and the court gave him the sum of $50 for his appearance when wanted. Surety was furnished by James E. Pettit, a resident of the county. The case has attracted considerable attention among citizens of the county.

Vote-getting System Outlined.

The hope was that the party will roll up an overwhelming vote against each of the Republican nominees. In reference to the rumors that James R. Caton, the Democratic nominee, would succeed himself in the legislature, will have a hard fight on his hands to secure the position. Mr. Caton states that he has made a thorough canvass of the city and feels confident that he will win by a large majority. His opponent, Frank Evans, is the only Republican member of the city council.

The board of police commissioners held a special meeting this evening in the city hall, when the resignation of Stewart Jones as a member of the force was accepted. Several applications for the position were received, but an election was deferred until next Monday evening. Mayor Poff presided. Capt. Germans Ignore Nationality at Lecture by Britisher.

CROWN PRINCE IS PRESENT

Ambassador Tower Presents American Professors at Inauguration Lectures—Hadley and Schofield Well Received—Germany Sent Prof. Osler to America Some Years Ago.

Berlin, Oct. 30.—The Kaiser sent the crown prince to report to him to-day at the inauguration addresses of the exchange professors, Arthur T. Hadley, of Yale, and William Henry Schofield, of Harvard, which were delivered at the university. The audience included the educational authorities and professors of the university and many Americans.

Both professors read German addresses, Schofield continuing in English, the introduction of his course on "English literature in the Middle Ages." Hadley, as Roosevelt professor, was given priority in reading the addresses, while Schofield was presented first to the assembly as representing the elder university. Ambassador Tower presented the professors and their respective wives to the crown prince.

Opinion at Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 30.—That nothing more serious than "gossip" will result from the comment in the American colony in Berlin over the fact that Harvard University has sent as this year's "exchange professor" a Britisher instead of an American is the opinion in local college circles.

That the exchange is purely academic and not diplomatic, is the contention at Harvard. Prof. Muensterberg, who is the closest representative of Emperor William in this section, and Jerome D. Green, President Eliot's secretary, talked about the dispute to-day. Prof. Muensterberg said that no mistake had been made in the selection of Prof. Schofield.

Germany Sent Us a Russian. He said it made no difference to the German government whether the "exchange professor" was an American. He pointed out that in the exchange of professors, no account was taken by the two nations of the nationality of the professors.

As an example, he cited that the first professor sent to this country under the "exchange professor" plan was Prof. Osler, the noted philosopher and scientist, who was not German born, but who was a Russian. Jerome D. Greene, President Eliot's secretary, said to-day that the question of Prof. Schofield's nationality was brought up some time ago, but that it was considered favorable rather than otherwise, because it accentuated the fact that his mission to Germany was academic rather than diplomatic.

Prof. Schofield is a Canadian, having been born at Brockville, Ontario. He is the son of a clergyman. He was graduated from Toronto University in 1889. He took his master's degree at Harvard in 1893 and his doctor of philosophy degree there in 1895.
